

Smooth Transitions - Top 10 List: Things scientists ask about moving to a career outside academia

Presented by

Joanne Kamens, PhD

Staying in academia is really the “alternative” career for scientists. The majority (>80%!) of current scientists in training will not end up in a traditional academic research position. This presentation will give you some criteria to consider in deciding which career paths may be right for you and then will provide concrete tools and resources for preparing for the transition.
